

NEW PEACE MOVE IS LAUNCHED AT SHANGHAI

U.B.C. Students With Petition Cut Lectures Leave Studies While They Ask 150,000 To Sign Grant Request

Travel From Point Grey Institution in Busses in Search of Many Names Opposing Reduction in Provincial Appropriation

MASS MEETING IS SET FOR TO-MORROW

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 12.—Cancelling all lectures by the simple method of absenting themselves, students of the University of British Columbia today began a campaign to obtain 150,000 signatures to a petition requesting the provincial government not to make the 50 per cent reduction in the grant which it has proposed.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the fleet of busses hired by the student campaign committee left the university, bearing hundreds of canvassers. Each class was placed in charge of a district and members of each class assigned to streets and buildings they were to canvass.

"Another mass meeting will be held on Saturday morning at 8.30," Earl Vance, president of the Alma Mater Society, announced. "If the canvass is not completed to-day we will go out again on Saturday."

Leaders of the student campaign declare each student is allowed a certain number of "cuts" or absences from lectures before incurring a penalty and there is no rule preventing all from "cutting" on the same day.

The petition outlines the situation at the university and concludes with a plea that the government grant for next year "be not reduced below an amount which, after affecting all reasonable economies," will enable the university to function as a first class educational institution.

UNIVERSITY GRANT MEETING TO-MORROW

Following up the energetic campaign against the proposed cut in the University of British Columbia grant, the Students' Publicity Committee of the university has arranged a meeting for to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Memorial Hall. Several arguments which have been advanced by the committee will be presented to show that a cut in the grant threatens the future of many students now enrolled and to support the contention the university will be brought down to a lower standard than is justified in this province. If the threatened reduction in the grant is put into effect, Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia and Miss Margaret Clay are among the speakers scheduled.

Press Is Voted Out Of Saanich Meeting

Reporters Escorted By Chief of Police From Joint Conference

Statement Issued Says Little Likelihood of Tax Increase in Saanich

"The joint conference of the council, school board and police commission of Saanich is confident that this year stand unchanged at twenty-eight mills. This opinion is based upon tentative economies in all departments.

"Library services will cease in Saanich unless Victoria Public Library permits Saanich residents to enjoy privileges now extended residents in unorganized territory, who individually pay for their library cards."

These were the official statements issued by the municipal clerk following the rising of the joint conference held yesterday evening at the Royal Oak Municipal Hall.

The proceedings were held in private, after a formal resolution to that effect had been adopted by a majority vote. Reeve Crouse asked for a motion to exclude the press and Trustee F. Partridge moved accordingly. The motion carried.

SAYS DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict at Inquest Over George Bissenden

Son Tells of Father's Sudden Death; Bus Driver Describes Crash

The jury sitting at the inquest over George Bissenden, who was killed in a collision between a B.C. Electric bus and his bicycle on Wednesday morning, returned a verdict of accidental death this morning.

The jury considered the evidence in the case for an hour and made a trip to the scene of the collision on Shelbourne Street, just north of Haultain Street.

Seven witnesses testified at the inquest, held at McCall's Brothers' Funeral Home. The hearing was delayed twenty minutes at the start while blue prints of a plan of the scene of the accident were produced. When Cyril Jones, draughtsman in the city engineer's office, appeared to submit the blue prints, he was censured by Dr. E. C. Hart for tardiness, and explained that the delay occurred in preparation of the plans. The coroner said it was not that the witness was a city employee and the fine would be shifted on to the public, he would have made sure the witness would remember the occasion.

Police Inspector John T. Boulton was the next witness, describing the scene of the fatality and the measurements he had made.

BUS OFF THE ROAD

When he arrived at the place about 9.40 o'clock Wednesday morning, he saw the bus standing on rough ground, off the west side of Shelbourne Street, he said.

The wheel marks he traced the route of the machine from a point 50 feet north of Haultain Street at which point the left wheel marks were approximately 3 feet 2 inches from the eastern edge of the pavement. The road was wet at the time but was drying out.

MEASUREMENTS TAKEN

At a point 61 feet from Haultain Street, on Shelbourne Street, the left wheel marks were 21 feet 6 inches from the west side of the road and at a point 100 feet from Haultain Street was 13 feet 6 inches from the east edge of the pavement. At 150 feet from the eastern edge of the pavement, the road was 24 feet 6 inches from Haultain Street and at 190 feet 6 inches from Haultain Street was just leaving the roadway on the west side.

On the rough ground the mark showed the eastern edge of the pavement, parallel with the road line and the rear of the bus when he saw it was 243 feet north of Haultain Street. The (Concluded on Page 5)

COAL LUMBER TRADE MOOTED

English Plan to Ship Coal in Exchange For Canadian Soft Woods

Ontario Would Provide Probable Opening, B.C. Officials Say

London, Feb. 12.—The Shipping World understands a situation has developed favoring a profitable deal with Canada, whereby Great Britain would exchange British coal for Canadian wood.

The trade publication says: "A timber merchants' group in London, which has been buying soft wood from Russia, has decided in the interests of imperial preference to abandon this year's contract for 450,000 standards."

"It is therefore necessary to negotiate the purchase of this large quantity of timber from some other source. It is understood it is intended to place the order in Canada."

EXCHANGE IS FACTOR

"It is hoped an agreement may be made to the advantage of the British coal industry as well as of the shipowners. Large expansion of British coal exports to Canada is possible and as British coal owners, assisted by depreciation of the pound sterling, can now successfully compete with the United States in price, there is no reason why this exchange of commodities should not be effected to the advantage of both countries."

"As far as this year's trade is concerned," says the publication, "contracts cannot wait for the Imperial Conference to be held at Ottawa in July. Prompt action is necessary. Timber imports and coal exporters can open negotiations through the Canadian government's representatives in London for placing a contract for wood and (Concluded on Page 5)

WANTS POTATO EMBARGO LIFTED

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—B. F. Smith, Conservative, Victoria—Carleton, N.B., moved a resolution in the Commons today urging on the government the necessity of using every means to induce Great Britain to remove its embargo against Canadian potatoes.

SCHOOL PUPILS TO SEE FREE FILMS

Free moving pictures of Canadian scenes will be shown school children of Greater Victoria at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. Through the courtesy of J. M. Robertson, manager of the Dominion Theatre, the following reels will be run off at the Dominion: "Necking Steelheads," "When Winter Comes," "Goodbye to All That," "Across Canada in Fifteen Minutes," "Banff" and "Ontario Lakeshore Parks."

The films have been loaned by the National Parks Association of Ottawa and will be shown under the auspices of the Regional Council of Canadian Clubs of British Columbia. The children will be carefully supervised on their arrival at the theatre by volunteer mothers representing both men's and women's Canadian Clubs.

BUILDS DIRIGIBLES FOR THE RUSSIANS

GEN. UMBERTO NOBILE

Moscow, Feb. 12.—General Umberto Nobile, Italian commander of the ill-fated expedition of the dirigible Italia to the North Pole, has signed a contract with the Soviet Government to design and construct a fleet of dirigibles over a period of more than three years.

The agreement also calls for his participation next summer in a Soviet scientific expedition to the Arctic.

RELIEF SUM IS PAID VANCOUVER

Cheque For $46,000 Received From Provincial Government

Vancouver, Feb. 12.—Vancouver civic authorities have received a cheque for $46,000 from Victoria representing further governmental contribution toward the city's present $950,000 relief programme.

According to advices accompanying the remittance, the money represents payments on behalf of the province. Receipt of this cheque brings the total of provincial contributions to the city to approximately $151,000. This is the total of all governmental money received by the city so far.

MUST CONTINUE PUBLICITY WORK

"In order for Victoria to maintain its share of tourist travel, it is positively necessary for an active campaign of publicity and advertising to be continued," members of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau were told at its annual meeting in the Chamber of Commerce to-day.

The statement was made following the announcement in the bureau's annual report that the tourist trade of Canada was now recognized as one of its major industries.

The report included a summary of work done in Canada to assist the motor tourists in the way of roadwork, ferry system improvement and other matters.

It pointed out that the United States was the biggest source of Victoria's tourist travel.

British Regiment To Go To Shanghai

Poona, India, Feb. 12.—The British East Lancashire Regiment, which was due to have gone from here to Khartoum, Egypt, in March, has been ordered to Shanghai instead. It will sail about February 23.

SUGGESTS "KINGDOM OF CANADA" AS NAME

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Changing of the official name of this country from the Dominion of Canada to the "Kingdom of Canada" is advocated in a resolution placed on the order paper of the Commons by Armand Lavergne, Deputy Speaker and Conservative member for Montmagny, Que. Mr. Lavergne asks the House to declare that "it is in the interest of the empire and the Canadian Confederation" that the change be made.

The Deputy Speaker will hardly be recovered from his illness to be able to attend the house for several weeks, and until his return the resolution will not be discussed.

Spain Urges Outlawing Of All Arms Of Nations Of Aggressive Nature

Czechoslovakian Delegates Also Argue at Geneva Conference For Arms Reduction

Geneva, Feb. 12.—Luis Zulueta, Foreign Minister of Spain, proposed total abolition of military aviation and internationalization of civil aviation at to-day's session of the world disarmament conference here, in an address outlining Spain's suggestions.

He also joined the spokesman of the great powers in urging the outlawing of all arms of an aggressive nature.

He asked the conference to amend the draft convention setting out the procedure of the conference by inserting a provision for the limitation of war materials in stock and for publicity for war materials required.

Denmark and Czechoslovakia also presented their proposals, favoring heavy reduction of armaments.

PERLEY TO-MORROW

Sir George Perley, chief Canadian delegate, was to have presented the Canadian case at the close of to-day's session, but so much time was taken for the necessary translations of the three speeches made to-day that the Canadian proposals were postponed until Saturday.

104 LIQUOR INDICTMENTS

Charges at New Orleans Include Vancouver Men on Big List

New Orleans, La., Feb. 12.—One hundred and four indictments, charging conspiracy and violation of the United States federal prohibition act, were handed down to-day by a federal grand jury investigating the operations of what authorities described as a far-flung international rum ring.

Federal agents claim they have evidence that indicates Al Capone, Chicago gang chief now facing a federal prison term, was the directing head of the smugglers and runners that purchased liquor in Canada and shipped it to Belle, British Honduras, from where it was reshipped to the Louisiana-Mississippi gulf coast and trucked to the interior cities.

The ring was uncovered in a series of raids last spring when seven men were arrested and an outlaw radio station was seized on the outskirts of Chicago.

Ninety-seven men from New York, Chicago, Washington, State, Canada, Louisiana and Mississippi were named in one blanket indictment and other indictments were returned against seven large distilleries of Vancouver, B.C.

VETERANS' CASE IN COMMONS

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—In the Commons to-day C. R. McInnis (Liberal, North Battleford, Sask.) inquired whether it was the intention of the government to refer to a special committee the memorandum recently filed with the government containing representations from associated returned soldiers' organizations.

Premier Bennett said the intention of the government would be made known when appropriate action had been taken.

Japan's Skyrocket Rise Unmatched In History

From a primitive land to a world power in seventy-five years has been the leap made by Japan. Robert Tally has written the history of this empire's spectacular climb. The first illustrated chapter will be published to-morrow as a feature of the Saturday Magazine Section of The Victoria Times.

Other features of the Saturday Magazine Section will include: "Wall Street voices some startling truths on the world credit smash and on economic warfare, destined to become still more intensified, despite its utter futility."

"Maggie and Jiggs of the comic strip celebrate their twentieth anniversary and this provides the occasion for the story of the rise and career of George McManus, their creator. The story is illustrated with a reproduction of his very first published comic strip and others to show the changes in his drawing during the years."

This is leap year Valentine season and every girl should jump to give a heart party.

Robert Connell tells how sunshine of millions of years ago, stored by the trees of bygone ages, is regained in fossil fuel.

NEW PATRONAGE ACT PROPOSED

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Designed to withdraw appointments to the outside service from the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission, and also to empower deputy ministers to make promotions, a bill sponsored by Onésime Gagnon, Conservative, Dorchester, Que., will be introduced into the Commons next Monday.

This measure will undoubtedly be referred to the special committee which Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, said this week would be set up in order to review all matters and proposed enactments affecting the civil service.

The ministers went to Shanghai from Nanking.

Depressed business conditions in the United States naturally had an adverse effect on transcontinental tourist travel," the report said. "However, Victoria's popularity as a summer holiday resort, with residents of California, Washington, Oregon, and the mainland of British Columbia, induced an increased number of people from those parts to come here, swelling the travel so that the drop in the total for the summer was very small, as compared with 1930. An increased number of day excursions were run from the nearby mainland to the island. These excursions made up for a large extent for the decrease in tourists from farther afield."

FIRE TO-DAY IN HAMPTON, N.B.

Village East of St. John Suffers Loss of $60,000; Buildings Destroyed

Hampton, N.B., Feb. 12.—This little village, twenty-two miles east of St. John, was hard hit to-day by a fire that destroyed five buildings and caused $60,000 damage.

Two dwellings and eight stores and establishments were levelled by the flames, which were brought under control before noon.

Apparently originating in the store of J. William Smith, M.P.P., the fire had plenty of ready fuel in oil, paints and ammunition, and spread to adjoining buildings. Several persons made their escape in night attire.

MOVIE CASE NEARING END

Prosecutor Presents Argument at Hearing of Group in Toronto

Toronto, Feb. 12.—Certain film organizations formed a combine in "absolute transmission of the law," R. H. Greer, B.C. special prosecutor, declared before Mr. Justice Charles Garrow in non-jury sittings here to-day. Mr. Greer was continuing his arguments against the film exchange.

He dealt at the outset with evidence given by Antoine Lauriente, Trail, B.C. theatre owner. Film exchanges had co-operated in refusing Lauriente a choice of pictures, he said.

"This man invested $70,000 in a show. He was refused pictures by all exchanges, and only when he went to the exchange a second time and with his lawyer was he able to get some pictures," Mr. Greer said.

"The whole matter in British Columbia is a good illustration of the power in operation," he added.

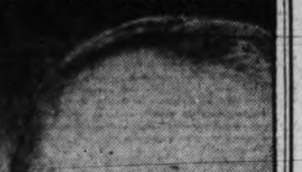

Dealing with Bloom and Fine in Toronto, counsel said what they had done would have been impossible if they had not had Famous Players and their system of exchanges behind them.

A local man, he declared, was threatened that if he continued to build a large up-town house he would find it hard to buy pictures.

"This threat," he continued, "was followed up by active interference, because he could get no picture contracts when he went to the exchanges. I say that is an absolute transgression of the law."

NO JAPANESE ARE RECRUITING IN B.C.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Denial of reports that Canadian veterans of the Great War were being recruited in Vancouver was contained in an official statement issued to-day by the Japanese legation here. It also denied 100 men had already been recruited and sailed for Japan from the Coast city.

LITTLE DROP IN TOURISTS

Popularity of City as Resort Draws Many People From Northwestern States

Tourist Travel to City Suffered Less Than Any Other Commercial Activity

In spite of the influence of depressed business conditions on tourist travel, Victoria suffered less than most other cities, the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau was informed in the directors' annual report at their luncheon to-day.

POLICE CLOSE IN ON TRAPPER

Believed Two Searchers Are Nearing Spot Where A Johnson Is in Far North

Alkavik, N.W.T., Feb. 12.—Advancing ahead of the main patrol body, Q.M.S. R. F. Biddell and Staff Sergeant Henry of the Royal Canadian Signals Alkavik radio station, to-day were believed to be closing up rapidly on Albert Johnson, accused of having slain a mounted policeman.

Johnson's trail, viewed from the air, showed him to be somewhat "froggy," as the tracks were getting shorter, and the radio men, who are two of the best trackers and mushers in the north country, were on foot and following the trail so quickly that it was thought they were advancing rapidly on Johnson.

Johnson is a trapper without a license. At first it was thought he was demented, but those who have been out on patrol declare: "If he is demented we all ought to be."

The wanted man is a first-class trapper and bushman. His ability in hiding his trail has made tracing difficult, but that part of his trail which has been found indicates he knows his business and that he is not demented. (Concluded on Page 5)

REPORT DEBUCHI RECALLED DENIED

Tokio, Feb. 12.—The Japanese Foreign Office to-day denied Katsujichi Debuichi, Ambassador to the United States, had been instructed to return from Washington, and also that any decision had been made to send special envoys to Great Britain, the United States and France to enlist sympathy and understanding for Japan's position in China.

Both these reports were current yesterday.

Nanking Holds To Firm Course

Loyang, China, Feb. 12.—The Chinese Government decided to-day to continue its present "firm attitude" toward the Sino-Japanese dispute, especially as regards Shanghai, and also to reject Japanese proposals for demilitarization of the principal Chinese ports.

Prairies In Grip Of Worst Storm Of Year

Winnipeg, Feb. 12.—Whistling winds from the Arctic hurled prairie snow into huge drifts to-day, blocking highways and filling city streets with snow so that urban traffic proceeded under difficulties. It marked the second day of the blizzard-like storm, worst of the season in the west.

Temperatures sank many degrees overnight, touching minimum levels of 30 below zero at points in all three prairie provinces. The coldest channel was across the northern country, Prince Albert, Sask., and Edmonton recording 30 below. Snow fell in many sections.

As far as the weather man is concerned, the prairies may look forward to a week-end of such storms. It will continue cold and the wind from the northwest is not scheduled to lose its force during the next twenty-four hours.

Train schedules east of here were interrupted. Transcontinental trains from the east reached here as much as three hours late. The snowfall was particularly heavy between Winnipeg and the head of the Great Lakes.

While trains were delayed but little on the prairies, keeping well up to schedules, air mail service was disrupted.

SWEDISH ART APPRECIATED

Artists Find Ready Market There, Prof. P. A. Boving Tells Extension Society

I know of few countries where a painter finds as ready a market for his work as Sweden, and at generous prices too," remarked Professor P. A. Boving of the University of British Columbia, in an address on "Scandinavian Art" before the University Extension Society in Victoria College yesterday evening.

Though the art of the Scandinavian countries was so far little recognized on this continent, Europe and particularly London were becoming conscious of its worth. Railway waiting rooms in Scandinavia had their walls adorned with reproductions of leading works of art and often an art lover had to pick his way through crowds of children to view the paintings or reproductions hung on the walls of schoolrooms.

Brought through daily contact with such paintings and reproductions to a desire to see more, children, the speaker added, often spent their free days in the public galleries in the big cities.

Something unique were the Scandinavian open air museums which both in their conception and influence had given a stronger beat to the art life of the countries, said Professor Boving. Here one could see, not only the various forms of architecture, but implements, dresses and old dwellings preserved for posterity.

Beautiful things, meant the beautiful things of life and included, in addition to the commonly recognized works of artists, such things as weaving, copper work, china, pottery and silverwork, even though these be made by peasants and artisans.

The speaker dealt primarily with the work of the sculptor and painter and with what he termed the small industries. Names great in the annals of the world could be claimed by Scandinavian literature and art, he said. Many men were referred to and though their names were in many cases strange to the audience, they bore a certain atmosphere to the address and a conviction that Professor Boving, who as he said was mostly Swedish with a touch of Danish, Norwegian and Scotch, had given much thought to his subject throughout his life.

More than one of the sculptors or painters mentioned by the speaker were schoolyard friends and acquaintances of his, while his father was the subject of what is regarded as the greatest work of one of the greatest painters of Sweden.

A number of reproductions of sculptures, paintings and etchings were displayed by the speaker, in addition to some beautifully weaved cloth which is 300 years old.

"With apologies to Caesar," the speaker opened his address, "it might be said that Scandinavia is divided into three parts—Norway, Sweden and Denmark. Before the war all three must have spoken one language, but there are now decided differences."

Professor Boving drew interesting analogies and contrasts between the three nations. The Swedes, he said, were free and easy, courtly and loving and saw primarily the relation between man and nature.

The Danes were more rational, were genial, humorous, keen students of social problems and their fellow men and saw primarily the relation between man and man.

The Norwegians lived more for the idea and the ideal, luxuriated in the wealth of their dreams and strived for a relation between man and his ideals.

These different characteristics were firmly marked in the art work of the three countries, the speaker continued. An interesting point was made when the audience were asked also to bear in mind the far northern Scandinavian light fell more obliquely and there was a distinct, different shading to be caught by the artists.

If it could be said that the Italian painter in general was a generalist, then it could be said that the Scandinavian artists were neither one nor the other, but that they had an expression all their own.

Great art, Professor Boving observed in this connection, might be said to be international in its appeal but having a national bias.

"If we wish to understand our fellows we must not be inattentive to the art work both of past and present contributors. Undoubtedly we are sometimes repelled by modern painting, but we must remember that while there are lesser men who merely make use of it for a tricky effect, there are the greater who have gone to it for truth. Many great artists have done the same, often in later life, and long after their reputation was established. There are strong evidences of geometrical, cubist effects in a Rembrandt self-portrait done a few years before Rembrandt's death."

REVISION COURT AT OAK BAY

Business of the Court of Revision was dealt with by Oak Bay councillors yesterday who sat in the afternoon in committee and at a public meeting in the evening as a Court of Revision. The estimates will not be completed until late in March.

Plans are now being made to borrow $100,000 from the Bank of Montreal, which is the usual amount taken at this time of the year to cover the municipal expenses until the taxes commence to come in during the summer. It is necessary to pass a by-law to secure this money, and the introduction to this was read at the meeting.

The council was advised by telegram yesterday that a Toronto firm could obtain $10,000 of Oak Bay 6 per cent bonds, due in 1933, at 6.1 per cent. This offer will be handled by the finance committee, and will probably be accepted. Some weeks ago Oak Bay tried to secure some of its 1933 debentures, but was not successful.

G. H. Richardson, municipal engineer, recommended installation of a four-inch water main on Lorne Terrace, from the Crescent Road intersection, a distance of 200 feet eastward, at a cost of $250. The swampy condition of this road, at the end of the beach, was the subject of a letter written by James T. Stott of Crescent Road. The houses in the area had their basements under water during the winter, and Mr. Stott asked if something could not be done to remedy this serious defect. He also stated the need of lights on this street. The matter was referred to the works committee, whose members will visit the district personally and make a detailed report.

SCHOOL BOARD
The School Board asked the permission of the council for further time in the preparation of its estimates. The board, because of the reduction in the government grant for teachers' salaries, amounting to approximately $8,000, is having a struggle in making up its estimates for the year. Unless absolutely necessary, the members of the board do not want to cut any of the salaries, and hope to be able to make up the difference in some other way. The estimates will be ready in another two weeks, it is expected.

At the Court of Revision held yesterday evening it was decided to suspend the assessment of the Hudson's Bay Company's land in the municipality. It is assessed at $148,155, which is approximately $300 per acre for the 484 acres. Last year the assessment was reduced $25,000.

Annual taxes paid are about $4,000, which makes the company one of the largest ratepayers in the municipality. W. H. M. Haldane represented the Hudson's Bay at the court.

The assessment of $21,800 on property owned by John Bowker, comprising five acres of land along the waterfront, was allowed to stand, the court ruled.

Burdick Avenue in the Uplands district will be paved as the result of a local improvement petition. The necessary by-law will be prepared and started as soon as possible. The paving will be twenty-four feet wide.

At the monthly meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute, held in the committee room of the Luxton Hall, endorsement was given to the resolution with regard to the Otha Scott endowment fund, and a committee was appointed to disburse the fund.

A committee was appointed to assist with arrangements for the old-time dance to be held by the Methoan Farmers' Institute, February 19, in Luxton Hall.

SCHOOLS ASK TAX RELIEF

Oak Bay Private Schools Appeal to Board For Consideration

Because of the large amounts they save the municipality, the Oak Bay members of the Vancouver Island Private Schools' Association have written the Oak Bay Municipality asking for some measure of relief from taxation.

Charles V. Milton, headmaster at Cranleigh House School, honorary secretary of the association, was the writer of the letter which was read in public meeting yesterday afternoon. No action was taken, the matter being laid over for future discussion.

In his letter, Mr. Milton placed a number of facts before the council. The nature of the business of the private schools, he said, requires the owners to carry an amount of property out of proportion to the turnover when compared with that held by other businesses.

The presence of private schools in the municipality, the letter stated, means the saving of a considerable sum of money as no pupil attending such a school is costing the municipality anything for education.

All private schools in Vancouver, Mr. Milton stated, are totally exempt from taxation. The Oak Bay private schools are not asking for anything like this. The three Oak Bay members of the association, Mr. Milton, Miss Ashworth of St. Christopher's School and Kylie Symonds of St. Michael's School, asked for an interview at the next council meeting. This was granted and they will then put their ideas before the municipal body.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Holy Trinity Church to the M.C.C. was held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Noury, Wednesday afternoon. In the absence of the president the chair was taken by the vice-president, Mrs. J. Noury. Two new members were welcomed.

An appeal was made for help from the blind of British Columbia and a contribution was voted toward the fund. Mrs. H. Slack and Mrs. D. Porteous were appointed delegates to attend the conference to be held at the Memorial Hall in Victoria next month. Tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Robert Acreman.

A Valentine dance will be held in Quarters Hall on February 13, under the auspices of the Sooke Athletic Association.

Capt. and Mrs. Bowen Colthurs have been visiting this week in Vancouver.

Mrs. C. Richardson has been spending the last few days in Victoria as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Sheppard.

MALTA IS TO HAVE ELECTION

British Government Should Restore Constitution, Says Askwith Commission

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 12.—Restoration of the constitution to the Island of Malta and elections at an early date were recommended in a report of the Royal Malta Commission, made public yesterday.

The constitution was temporarily suspended by an order-in-council June 26, 1930, which empowered the governor to make laws. The order came as a climax of a dispute between the clergy and the government.

The Commission's report expressed confidence the next pastoral letter would be framed with a view to the welfare of the Roman Catholic Church and the vast British Empire instead of "comparatively minor" Maltese interests.

OTTAWA REPORTS TRADE FIGURES

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Canada's imports in January last were $34,114,507, and exports $30,083,469, according to a statement issued yesterday by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

For the ten months of the present fiscal year up to January 31 the imports totaled $485,489,619, and the exports $500,327,968.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—It is understood the royal commission appointed by the Ontario Government to inquire into cancer will recommend the establishment of three cancer clinics in the province, to be operated by the government.

Commissioner Of Danzig Resigns

Warsaw, Feb. 12.—The Polish commissioner of Danzig, H. Strasser, resigned yesterday, bringing to an open break for the second time in two weeks strained relations between racial groups dwelling in small "international cities" of eastern Europe.

WAR DANGERS IN EUROPE TOLD

Capt. H. G. Scott Sees Precarious Situation For Some European States

Danger spots of Europe were described by Capt. H. G. Scott of Red Deer, Alta., in an address before the United Service Institute yesterday evening. He stressed a solemn warning that if there were not a complete change in the spirit of Europe, war might again ravage the country.

Capt. Scott, in recent years, has visited the areas of which he spoke and has extensively studied the political situation on the European continent.

Albania, a little non-progressive state adjoining Jugoslavia, is one of these danger spots, he said, and its stronger neighbor had cast an envious eye upon it. And an alliance with Italy, which in effect would bring Albania in the class of a protectorate, more fully justified this view. However, the policy of the country by Sir Jocelyn Percy of England and the improvement of the rising generation in agriculture under guidance of the United States Junior Red Cross, were brighter features of the conditions there.

Italy, said Captain Scott, was tremendously interested in seeing that no other country secured possession of Albania, but there was a danger of an outbreak with Jugoslavia.

POLISH CORRIDOR

Even more of a danger zone was the Polish Corridor, the speaker said. This strip of land, about twenty-five miles wide, running through what was formerly German territory, gave Poland access to the Baltic Sea and cut East Prussia from the rest of Germany.

Germany recognized the Corridor only as a matter of necessity, but did not intend to remain under the conditions imposed any longer than was essential. Poland, of course, would not consent to its abolition.

Poland, on the other hand, had no intention of allowing the Lithuanian border line to continue in existence, with direct opposition from the Lithuanians. The Polish-Russian frontier was guarded with two lines of barbed wire eight feet in height.

Thus Poland's position was particularly precarious, with trouble-makers on each side of her, said the speaker.

SWEEPSTAKES BILL DEBATED

Barnard Again Introduces Proposal For Hospitals in Senate

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—The Senate yesterday evening approved the motion to appoint a committee to investigate the Commons' report of last session on Beauharnois and the relations between that company and three senators—Messrs. McDougall, Haydon and Raymond.

The "elder statesmen" also renewed the powers of a committee to inquire into the system of appointing judges. The committee is asked to report on a method whereby the number of judges may be reduced and the system of appointments equalized.

Two insurance bills were advanced a stage, and a debate on a bill to legalize sweepstakes for the benefit of hospitals was introduced.

The hospital sweepstakes bill was introduced by Senator G. H. Barnard of Victoria, B.C., who tried unsuccessfully to get a similar bill passed last year.

PROVINCES TO DECIDE

The bill would legalize, under the auspices of the Attorney-General of each province which might see fit to take advantage of the legislation, the holding of sweepstakes within that province for the benefit of hospitals.

This year's bill has the additional provision that tickets for a sweepstake in any province could not be sold in any other province, but could be sold outside the country.

Senator Dandurand, Liberal leader, opposed the bill. Had he been disposed to retire in any way from his previous stand it would be for the hospitals, but it was a principle which had been established and maintained in Canada, he said. The people of Canada would not let their hospitals suffer.

The debate on the bill was adjourned till to-morrow.

CLASHES HAMPER FLOOD RELIEF WORK

Associated Press

Shanghai, Feb. 12.—Sir John Hope-Simpson, director-general of the National Flood Relief Commission, said today the relief of flood sufferers in the inundated areas of the central Yangtze basin had been seriously disrupted by the outbreak of hostilities here.

United States wheat shipments for the sufferers were held up in Shanghai, he pointed out, and there was not enough money in sight to pay for them. Approximately 225,000 tons of the 450,000 tons of United States wheat shipped for by the relief commission had been received, but 9,000 tons of the February shipments were delayed in the harbor here.

"The Japanese-Chinese situation seriously affected the income of the commission," Sir John said. "We compute that a total of $5,000,000, in addition to the income in sight, is necessary to finance the situation until the end of the wheat arrivals."

"Reduced railway travel and imports have cut our income from surtaxes. The wheat still is moving up the river at the rate of 1,000 tons a day, but nevertheless it is piling up in Shanghai in a serious manner. If military operations extend up the Yangtze they will stop all wheat distribution and put an end to plans for final achievement of the large task."

PROTEST TO OTTAWA

Winnipeg, Feb. 12.—Protests against the proposed 10 per cent reduction in the salaries of Dominion civil servants were voiced at a meeting of 100 members of the Civil Servants' Federation here yesterday evening. A resolution objecting to the cut was passed and will be sent to all Manitoba members of the House of Commons.

"I hear you lost your valuable dog in an auto accident."

"Yes, I was saved but the dog was killed."

"What a pity."

DISARMAMENT PROPOSALS

SO FAR THE SIMPLEST METHOD OF doing away with the chief cause of war has been suggested to the disarmament conference by Maxim Litvinoff on behalf of Soviet Russia. His proposal is universal disarmament. In effect, he says, "if you intend to disarm, why not disarm?" But if this is considered too revolutionary at present, he would agree to a progressive plan which eventually would bring about the same result. Nor is this the first time, incidentally, that this method of lightening the burden of the equipment of war has been proposed by the authorities at Moscow. The preparatory commission pigeon-holed it. It can not be perfunctorily treated on this occasion. Each plan will have to be studied on its merits.

The Russian proposal, of course, will be frowned upon by opponents of disarmament, including particularly those who thrive upon the manufacture of armaments—not to mention the paid propagandists whose job it is to create international distrust. But this time it follows important comprehensive proposals in the same direction by Germany and Italy. Thus, three great European powers, composed of 270,000,000 people are out for real substantial disarmament.

It was significant that Litvinoff in making his country's proposal assured the other delegates that Russia "requires neither increase of territory nor interference in the affairs of other nations to achieve its aim." With that as the basis of the Moscow government's international outlook, the Soviet delegation suggests that "it could do without an army, a navy or military aviation or all other forms of armed forces."

To all intents and purposes Germany is materially disarmed; the Treaty of Versailles provided for that. She is willing to remain as she is or reduce her armaments further if the rest of the powers are willing to do likewise. If Chancellor Brüning should be able to take back to the German people an international declaration of goodwill as represented by a programme for real disarmament, the prospects of Communists and Hitlerites within Germany would be less promising than they are.

Within recent times, moreover, Premier Mussolini has become an ardent leader in the peace and disarmament movement. He has made it abundantly clear that his country proposes to do its full share towards paving the way for a more peaceful international condition by ridding the world of its excess baggage in the shape of fighting equipment. The proposals of Russia, Germany and Italy are a challenge to the sincerity of the other great powers on this momentous question.

A POPULAR NOVELIST

WHATEVER MAY BE THE VERDICT of posterity regarding the quality of Edgar Wallace's literary output, he was without doubt one of the most popular authors of his time, and his death at Los Angeles on Wednesday will be keenly regretted by millions of readers all over the world. His thrillers were read avidly in all sections of society. Statesmen, scientists, leaders of the church, generals and admirals found in them relaxation from the exacting cares and responsibilities of their official duties, while a host of plainer people followed with rapt attention the machinations of countless villains, foiled by the skill and integrity of an equal number of detectives, always drawn by the novelist with deft touches and a high sense of dramatic values.

Edgar Wallace had an extraordinary capacity for work and by long odds was the most prolific writer of the day. His novels flowed out of him in an inexhaustible stream. He did not need any special inspiration; his fertile imagination could produce a gripping plot on an hour's notice, and not infrequently the finished book was ready for the publishers in a very few days. His own remarkable career opened to him a storehouse of much of his raw material. He began life as a newsboy in the slums of London. He was a private in the army in South Africa, and once told a representative of this newspaper that he had been dismissed for insubordination.

He had, however, a natural gift for writing and some of his contributions attracted the attention of noted London publishers, among them Alfred Harmsworth, later Lord Northcliffe whose uncanny prescience was responsible for the making of so many brilliant literary lights, and he was attached to the staff of The Daily Mail, as special correspondent. In that association he travelled around the world covering wars, revolutions and other important assignments. Later he began to write fiction, and his unusual facility in that direction soon won for him an ever-widening circle of admirers. In the last election in the Old Country he ventured into politics, running as a Socialist. He was defeated, although if every voter in the constituency for which he offered himself who read his books with enjoyment had voted for him, he would have been elected.

When death overtook Edgar Wallace he was filling a contract for four motion picture scenarios at Los Angeles. He will be sorely missed by the reading public of two continents, for many of whom his stories had recreational and tonic value, even if they carried no special inspiration and could not be classified among such great literature as can be found in this peculiar epoch of world progress.

THE BRITISH TARIFF

OF ESPECIAL CONCERN TO THE British consumer is the exemption by the National Government's tariff measure of wheat, wool and meat from the import levy. Free entry will be granted as well to raw materials for the textile and shipbuilding industries which thus are assured that they will not have to pay more for these vital requisites.

While the question of free admission of wheat is one in which Canada is deeply interested, since she has several empire and foreign competitors in the British market, it is desired the quota system will be worked out for the benefit of the dominions, and also without impairing Great Britain's commercial relations with such countries, for instance, as the Argentine, which takes large quantities of manufactured goods—an exchange also which furnishes a form of security for the large amount of British capital invested in that part of South America.

All agricultural and horticultural products from foreign countries—with the exceptions already noted—will, from March 1, next, be required to pay an import duty of ten per cent, while such products from Canada and other British countries will be admitted free. There is a proviso, however, in that empire products will enjoy this advantage for a specified period—until November 15. This is better than was anticipated, as it had been freely suggested that the time limit would not exceed July 18, the date set for the beginning of the Imperial Economic Conference, and at which it is hoped a general scheme of inter-empire trading will be worked out. It will be seen, therefore, that Canada has practically nine months in which to get in some intensive salesmanship that will popularize Canadian goods in Britain to the point where they will be demanded no matter what tariff action may be taken at a later date. It has been pointed out many times recently that Canadian cheese and bacon, once in substantial demand in Great Britain, have almost vanished from the British market because the supply was not maintained. In these two lines alone, then, it ought to be possible to develop a profitable business and retain it.

In a general way it remains to be seen, of course, whether the expedient the National Government at Westminster has adopted will produce all the results that are expected of it. All friends of Britain hope the right kind of action has been taken. If economic conditions over there improve, a beneficial effect will be felt elsewhere, and in that case it will matter little what formula has produced the desired result.

TWO MEN FROM JAPAN

WORLD PROBLEMS TO-DAY ARE calling, as never before, for clear thinking. Among the things that must be re-examined are some of our oldest and most cherished emotional and intellectual standards.

Recent news from the Orient, for instance, sets one to musing about two eminent Japanese—Dr. Hideyo Noguchi and Admiral Koichi Shosawa.

Dr. Noguchi is dead. He gave up his life in Africa while pursuing his world-famous study of tropical diseases; but before he died he had served humanity about as well as any other man of his century. He attacked yellow fever, sleeping sickness and other plagues with the selfless and heroic skill of a great scientist.

A great many men—Americans, Frenchmen, Germans, Englishmen, Japanese, native Africans—are going to live longer because of his work. For many years to come the work he did will go on saving lives. All nationalities and all races benefit.

Admiral Shosawa, under instructions, commanded the Japanese fleet that bombarded Shanghai. Shells, bombs and machine gun bullets, at his command, ripped through the houses there and killed scores, hundreds—no one knows just how many. He spread death with a lavish and relentless hand. His bombardment created alarm in such faraway places as London and Washington.

Now this, of course, is not to say that Dr. Noguchi was a better man than Admiral Shosawa. Bravery, fidelity and devotion were possessed by each. Each one did his duty as he saw it and did it unhesitatingly and thoroughly.

But it does shed a revealing light on the causes the two men served. The physician served humanity as a whole; the sailor served his own nation. Never was the contrast between the fruits of nationalism and internationalism more strikingly exhibited.

Is it not, perhaps, about time that we re-examined the concept of nationalism? In a world that has become so closely knit, is it not possible that a little revision of this old and honorable standard might be in order?

THE STAR SUSPENDS

THE WITHDRAWAL FROM PUBLICATION of The Vancouver Star will occasion widespread regret, for our bright and interesting morning contemporary on the mainland had established itself in the regard of a large number of readers. Under the able direction of General Odium, The Star was a clean, readable and newsy publication, featured by an admirable editorial department in which issues of moment were dealt with informatively, lucidly and impartially. The suspension of The Star leaves Vancouver without a morning newspaper for the first time since the infancy of that metropolis. Of most immediate concern in relation to the newspaper's withdrawal, however, will be the loss of employment by the members of the editorial, mechanical and business office staffs which will prove an unusually serious disability at this time.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TAKE BACK YOUR SILVER
The Winnipeg Free Press

Usually the cheque came with the mail promptly as the year ended, when the American Writing Paper Company paid its rent to the Holopole Power Company in Massachusetts. This year a great lorry rolled to the door and the doorman announced, "It's silver. Chunks of it."

The Power Company didn't want silver. Not in ore bundles anyway. But the Paper Company insisted. Was it not legal tender as nominated in the bond? "Perpetual annual rentals shall be paid in troy weight of silver of the standard value or an equivalent in gold at the option of the guaranteee at the time of payment." Twice the Paper Company has brought its load of silver and it has been twice refused.

Creditors are getting very "choicy" these days. The next move may be to the courts. But in the meanwhile the paper company stands on its silver base, while the power company calls for gold.

Loose Ends

I tell the government how to do it—the individual is seriously concerned—the roads are improved—and how!

By H. B. W.

EVERY TIME I discuss the financial problems of this province with those in authority in high places, they reply by a strange question. They demand what I would do if I were in office. My ignorance was an excuse for them to do anything or nothing; as if I, who never ran even for the Saanich Council (because I trusted Councillor Wrigglesworth to fix our road), who never pretended any knowledge of public affairs, should assume as much responsibility as those who were elected on a programme which contemplated, among other minor reforms, the introduction of the millenium. What I mean by that long and tortured sentence is that the balancing of the budget is really not my job. I am not paid to do it.

NEVERTHELESS, as a patriot, I am willing to answer the question which is always put to me across the Bay. I do know how to balance the budget, and quite seriously, I give the recipe to the government. It is this: Let the government call in its nine deputy ministers and tell them to go ahead and balance the budget in the best and fairest way possible, regardless of politics and only in the public welfare. Then let the government go home and work in the garden with Mr. Pooley, or walk in the woods with Mr. Bruhn, or examine some milk cows up at Chilliwack with Mr. Atkinson. Let the government remain thus occupied for the space of one week. When it returns, the budget will be balanced, the right thing will have been done and, which is more amazing, the public will accept the result. Because it knows perfectly well that the permanent deputy ministers are equipped for the job by a superior knowledge, a long experience, a glorious lack of political friends and no need to get re-elected.

SIR JOHN ADAMSON, director of education in the Transvaal, has recently given an address in London which is important. He said: "Everywhere we find the individual trying to ape another rather than to express himself. It is true of a golf swing, a hair wave, a dinner-table and a church service. There is a maulin community of conventions—black ties, white ties, red neckties, red lips, almost a sniveling loyalty to the vogue. Politically the same thing is to be seen. We are suffering from the jaundice of jealousy. The Knave looks with yellow eyes at the Ace. Economically, he lives at the expense of you and must 'go' as you go. He is not to drive up the average. Under a frankly communistic scheme, as in Soviet Russia, individuals are counted, no more. What a second Renaissance—the gospel of individuality for service might effect in the home, the school, the workshop, the public service and in the street! And what a contrast to the Second International!"

WHAT, in fact, is the whole sum and substance of our present problem. Russia, Italy and other places have frankly scrapped the individual in favor of the state. Can we save the individual and still run so complicated and delicate a machine as modern industrial civilization? Can we maintain personal liberty and still meet the competition of those who have sacrificed it? You may think this rather odd or you may think the answer quite obvious, according to your mentality. You may think it doesn't matter much and that our system will blunder through as it always has. Well, it does matter a great deal, how much we shan't know until we have lost what little personal liberty we have now; and it is by no means certain that we shall blunder through. On the contrary, we can't blunder through. We can't make our system work by sitting down and waiting for something to turn up as we have been doing for the last couple of decades. We have got to do something about it.

THE ALARMING thing, the thing which few people realize, is that while we are sitting back and waiting for something to turn up, while we are regarding everything with a laissez-faire scepticism, the other systems are crusading with a religious zeal, even when they are crusading against religion. No one is crusading for our system as Russians are crusading for Bolshevism, Italians for Fascism, Chinese for nationalism, Indians for independence. No one loves our system with a passionate yearning. No one gets enthusiastic about it. No one becomes religious about it. No one goes to jail in defence of it. We just take it for granted like air and sunshine. If it ever perishes it will perish not from outside attack, but because of inside indifference; largely because we haven't had enough sense so far to reform its abuses and make it respectable.

BUT in the end, the other systems will find that, with all its faults, our system still retains something terribly important. They will find, after they have completely subjected the individual to a veritable Utopia of efficiency, a veritable Utopia of equal distribution, that the thing won't work. It won't work because, when the individual has been completely lost, he won't have any further interest in the affair. He will have nothing to live for. Life will cease to be worth living, and the whole experiment will perish by a kind of spiritual paralysis. Exactly that happened to every former system which scrapped the individual, from the Nile to the Rhine. The end is certain, but it may take time. Meanwhile, it is going to be uncomfortable for us if we don't do something about saving the individual and seeing that he gets enough to eat.

less bits for this column, I note with some reprobation (a fine word, that) the recent activities of our provincial and municipal governments. I mean that all along the roads of Saanich they have been effecting improvements. But the value of most of them is entirely lost on the lay mind. What I ask as one anxious to learn, is the value of tearing up the sod for fifteen or twenty feet on either side of a country road and cutting down all the wild rose bushes, willows and young evergreens? What earthly harm have they done to deserve this fate? And what have the taxpayers done that their money should be devoted to landscaping landscaping far off to the side of their roads instead of being used for improving the running surface?

TO MY SIMPLE rustic mind the great charm of our roads is the green grass, the wild rose bushes and the trees along their sides; and I suppose I am deficient in that higher appreciation of aesthetics which distinguishes our statesmen in that I cannot see the beauty of churned up clay and tree stumps. However, nature and I shall have our way yet. The wild rose bushes, the willows and the trees will spring up again. They will restore the beauty of our roads long before the next depression when, to help the unemployed, it will be necessary to cut them all down again. By that time possibly statecraft will have devised some easier way to waste the public's money.

COBBLE HILL PIONEER
To the Editor:—Regarding your article on Mr. Olney and his experiences in the early days, I may say that at that time he was not afflicted with "idle curiosity." Talk of the silver mine, Jordan Meadows, etc., was in the live topic at that time, and with a long-handled shovel, a forty-pound box of pilot bread and a few small articles he started for the silver mine and the meadows.

Had it not been for the pilot bread he might never have survived the hardships, as he became lost, and was in almost critical condition when found. Another old pioneer supplied him with a home, where he lived for years, later buying a small piece of land half a mile from Cobble Hill station, where he lived part time until becoming too feeble to live alone. The writer knew him well for the past forty years.

REACTION IN EXCELSIOR

To the Editor:—Like many more, the writer is wondering what has come over your local, and was in an almost every question of local, national or international moment, he is to be found on the side of reaction in its most aggravated form. For months he has been doing his utmost to discredit the Canadian National Railways, presumably to pave the way for denationalization. He has set his face with determination against nationalization. For Canadian radio broadcasting, although he knows full well that the public is becoming absolutely "fed up" with "sponsored" commercial and advertisement talks.

Now he has taken to the hustings on the side of Japan, albeit well-informed opinion is opposed to his view. On Sunday he castigated the Chinese for publishing the "Tanaka Memorial," a document whose authenticity has never, so far as the writer is aware, been questioned. Indeed, the campaign being pursued by the Japanese appears to be absolutely in accord with the policy outlined by the late Premier Tanaka in his famous memorial to the Japanese emperor. What has happened to the dear old soul? Is it senility, or what?

FAIR PLAY.

WASTE

To the Editor:—In yesterday evening's news columns of The Times I saw that the Dominion Government has decided to cut off the hydrographic survey out of Victoria, thereby adding sixty-eight men to the list of unemployed in this city. It is stated the saving for one year alone will be $90,000. This is all very well, but what about the men set out? Will they only add to those who need government help? It seems to me it is a matter of cutting off the nose to spite the face.

I was also interested in your editorial comparing this cut with the cruise of the destroyers Skeena and Vancouver from the Esquimalt naval station to the West Indies, where they will meet the two destroyers Saguenay and Champlain from Halifax and (Concluded on Page 14)

5. Absolute prohibition of military aircraft. Civil aircraft to be placed under international control.

The conference, he said, should adopt a treaty for the control of international traffic in arms and a treaty for international and national control of private arms manufacture of arms and munitions.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S POSITION

Foreign Minister Edward Benes of Czechoslovakia accepted the proposals made by Andre Tardieu of France last week and endorsed the draft convention as the basis of the conference work.

"We must determine not to separate finally," he said, "until we have signed the first convention of limitation and reduction of armaments."

Czechoslovakia, he added, would agree to supervision of effectiveness and armaments and manufacture and trade in arms on a more comprehensive scale than was provided for in the draft convention. His government, he said, would pledge reductions in the period of army service, in agreement with other powers, and the Czech delegation would consider the possibility of reducing the army budgetary expenses.

DENMARK'S PROPOSALS

P. Munch, Danish Foreign Minister, proposed equality of armaments between victor and vanquished nations be reached by a gradual disarmament and budgetary limitation. He advocated total prohibition of offensive weapons and proposed the French plans for an armed international police force under the League of Nations.

By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Geneva, Feb. 12.—The public galleries were less well attended to-day when Luis Zulueta, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Spain, took the tribune at the World Disarmament Conference.

And between the declarations of this youthful delegate of the League of Nations, and the old Spain of great armadas, lay centuries of more than time.

For Zulueta, so-called humanitarianism of war was not enough. War itself must be abolished. To abolish the international anarchy of war international order must be created, he insisted.

DANISH VIEWS

Dr. Peter Munch, Minister of Foreign Affairs for Denmark, agreed the further the nations went in the interdiction of aggressive and dangerous arms the greater would be security for peace.

"A moral disarmament based on heavy reduction of armaments in accordance with article eight of the League Covenant," he added, "appears in our eyes the best security."

Dr. Munch expressed the belief that difficulties in the way of creation of an international police force, proposed by France, could be surmounted. Otherwise he opposed the French plan for an armed international "police force."

He proposed equality of armaments between victor and vanquished nations be reached by gradual disarmament and the budgetary limitation method.

DR. BENES SPEAKS

One of the greatest of European statesmen, Dr. Eduard Benes, Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, held up the preparatory commission should provide direct and clear limitation of armaments now. He was ready to accept more complete control of effectiveness, or armaments, of the manufacture and traffic in arms, than the draft convention provided.

Dr. Benes also favored a more elaborate system of defence against bacteriological and chemical warfare. He believed the prohibition of certain methods of war should be completed by a system of sanctions. In conclusion he urged the closest examination of the foreign proposals. Czechoslovakia, he said, was ready to accept these either as a whole, or in such parts as might be agreed on by the powers.

Commons Decides Committee at This Session Shall Re- commend New Clauses on Campaign Funds and Other Subjects

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—The Commons yesterday evening passed the resolution of Humphrey Mitchell, Labor, East Hamilton, Ont., to refer to a parliamentary committee the duty of investigating the Elections Act. There was no division.

The text of the resolution follows: "Whereas during the session of 1931 a special committee was appointed to investigate the Beuharnois power development, and whereas it was shown that enormous sums of money had been contributed for political campaign funds, it is resolved that, in the opinion of this house, it is desirable the committee on privileges and elections consider and report on the question of amending the Elections Act as may be considered necessary."

During the debate Premier Bennett said a redemptory bill, to be based on the last session, would not be introduced until next session.

HIS FIRST SPEECH

It was the Hamilton Labor member's maiden speech in the house. Recurrence of heavy campaign fund contributions from a corporation like Beuharnois must be prevented, he said. "If they continue, what chance will democratic institutions have in this country?"

KING SPEAKS

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, said he had suggested practically the same thing at the last session of the house, and had repeated the suggestion at a meeting in London last October.

The opposition leader believed there should be, at the present session of the House, a complete study of the question of campaign funds and amendments to the Elections Act to rectify the situation. He had gone even farther, Mr. King said, and had urged a royal commission, which would be representative of all parties in the House.

CENSUS TABULATION

There was only one question to be considered, said Premier Bennett, taking up the debate, and that was the first convention of limitation and reduction of armaments.

Czechoslovakia, he added, would agree to supervision of effectiveness and armaments and manufacture and trade in arms on a more comprehensive scale than was provided for in the draft convention. His government, he said, would pledge reductions in the period of army service, in agreement with other powers, and the Czech delegation would consider the possibility of reducing the army budgetary expenses.

DENMARK'S PROPOSALS

P. Munch, Danish Foreign Minister, proposed equality of armaments between victor and vanquished nations be reached by a gradual disarmament and budgetary limitation. He advocated total prohibition of offensive weapons and proposed the French plans for an armed international police force under the League of Nations.

By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Geneva, Feb. 12.—The public galleries were less well attended to-day when Luis Zulueta, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Spain, took the tribune at the World Disarmament Conference.

And between the declarations of this youthful delegate of the League of Nations, and the old Spain of great armadas, lay centuries of more than time.

For Zulueta, so-called humanitarianism of war was not enough. War itself must be abolished. To abolish the international anarchy of war international order must be created, he insisted.

DANISH VIEWS

Dr. Peter Munch, Minister of Foreign Affairs for Denmark, agreed the further the nations went in the interdiction of aggressive and dangerous arms the greater would be security for peace.

"A moral disarmament based on heavy reduction of armaments in accordance with article eight of the League Covenant," he added, "appears in our eyes the best security."

Dr. Munch expressed the belief that difficulties in the way of creation of an international police force, proposed by France, could be surmounted. Otherwise he opposed the French plan for an armed international "police force."

He proposed equality of armaments between victor and vanquished nations be reached by gradual disarmament and the budgetary limitation method.

DR. BENES SPEAKS

One of the greatest of European statesmen, Dr. Eduard Benes, Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, held up the preparatory commission should provide direct and clear limitation of armaments now. He was ready to accept more complete control of effectiveness, or armaments, of the manufacture and traffic in arms, than the draft convention provided.

Dr. Benes also favored a more elaborate system of defence against bacteriological and chemical warfare. He believed the prohibition of certain methods of war should be completed by a system of sanctions. In conclusion he urged the closest examination of the foreign proposals. Czechoslovakia, he said, was ready to accept these either as a whole, or in such parts as might be agreed on by the powers.

Special Session Of League Assembly Is Requested By China

Yen Asks Nations Represented to Settle Japanese-Chinese Dispute

Geneva, Feb. 12.—W. W. Yen, Chinese spokesman at the League of Nations, league authorities said, presented to Sir Eric Drummond to-day a formal request for an extraordinary session of the League Assembly to deal with the Japanese-Chinese problem.

Earlier this morning a spokesman for the Chinese delegation had said the delegation had decided not to call for a special meeting of the Assembly, which had been invoked by China, would have expired to-day.

The time-limit for calling the Assembly under article 15 of the League of Nations, which had been invoked by China, would have expired to-day.

Dr. Yen filed his request with the Secretary-General just before the time limit would have expired.

He declined to discuss the new move, but it was learned the Chinese delegation, which had been in Geneva since the outbreak of the Japanese-Chinese dispute, was particularly with regard to the wording of the request.

Commons Passes Speakman
Resolution For Council of Social Research

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Canada should send a commission to Soviet Russia to study the progress of the economic plan applicable to this country, in the opinion of James S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg, North Centre, who, in addressing the Commons yesterday afternoon referred to his recent tour of Russia.

Admitting communism was a threat to the average Canadian's view, the Winnipeg Laborite believed it should be studied in the hope it contained principles and points which might be adopted to the Canadian economic system. At least, it was planned economy, and in this day of world-wide depression, unemployment was unknown among the Soviets.

RESOLUTION PASSED

The House adopted a resolution sponsored by Alfred Speakman, U.F.A. Red Deer, advocating the creation of a "national council of social and economic research" to give scientific basis to such problems as unemployment, distribution and low commodity prices. The economic system would be treated in a laboratory in an effort to cut required for them to consult their various local bodies and international headquarters.

OTHER ECONOMIES

Gen. Odium's statement continues: "In view of the existing severe depression in business and the heavy loss on revenue occasioned thereby, it is impossible to continue publishing without effecting a reasonably proportionate reduction in cost. Before touching wages, I had considered every other possible economy. However, wages form more than 50 per cent of the full cost, without a change in them the situation could not be met. The amount of reduction to be effected was carefully calculated and was fixed at the minimum figure which could make continued publication of the paper a practical business operation."

The unions refuse to agree to a reduction in the wage scale sufficient to meet the situation.

"I do not choose to operate with a non-union force."

"I have no alternative, therefore, but to cease publication."

CAREER OF STAR

The Vancouver Star has had a chequered career. Founded by Charles E. Campbell as an afternoon paper in 1924, it was later purchased by General Odium, who continued to operate it as an evening paper. In 1926 an arrangement was effected whereby The Morning Sun entered the afternoon field and The Star became a morning paper.

Three years ago General Odium sold the paper to George M. Bell of Calgary, who operated it for less than two years. General Odium again acquired the paper more than a year ago.

LITTLE DROP IN TOURISTS

day excursions. Hotels, as a class, both up- and up-land, experienced a fair to good season, some did a capacity business, and furnished cabin camps were fully occupied during the whole season. In short, the tourist business in 1931 was less adversely affected than any other commercial activity in Victoria, the results, considering the prevailing poor conditions, more than amply justifying the efforts made to foster this industry.

BRINGS IN MONEY

"Victoria, geographically, climatically and scenically, is without peer as a holiday playground for a well-to-do couple or family man and his wife. There is one major thought, or point, that we would like to impress upon our fellow citizens, and that is that it only requires persistent and judicious advertising to keep on an upward increasing the numbers of people who will come here to spend their annual holiday, and, incidentally, will leave many hundreds of thousands of new dollars in our city."

"We are favored with probably the best automobile ferry facilities of any similarly situated place on the continent, and your directors are grateful for the co-operation which we have received during the year from the British Columbia Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian National Steamship Company, and the Puget Sound Navigation Company, all of which contributed to supplying such a splendid auto ferry service between the mainland and Vancouver Island. During the year 1931, the number of automobiles transported to the island, showing only a decrease of 1,034 from 1930, but an increase over 1928, the last year of normal travel. This is only a very small claim, but it is a claim which the figures of the automobile tourist travel in other districts."

CHAPTER CLOSING ACTIVE YEAR

Navy League I.O.D.E. Assisted Many Splendid Causes, Reports Show

Mrs. Mortimer Appleby Re-elected Regent at Annual Meeting Yesterday

Much splendid work along patriotic and philanthropic lines was accomplished by the Navy League Chapter I.O.D.E. last year, according to the comprehensive reports presented at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. A. Johnston, the retiring secretary.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Mrs. Mortimer Appleby was re-elected regent. Other officers chosen were: honorary regent, Mrs. Alice Thompson and Mrs. L. Quinn, who was a member of the first chapter formed in Canada; first vice-regent, A. D. Whittier, second vice-regent, Mrs. C. W. Plumb; treasurer, Mrs. E. O. Weston; educational secretary, Mrs. J. L. Ford; echoes secretary, Mrs. Sydney Wood; standard bearer, Mrs. J. MacKenzie; and Mrs. Frank J. MacKenzie.

Mrs. T. A. Johnston tendered her resignation as secretary, and her successor will be appointed at a later meeting. In her presidential address Mrs. Appleby briefly reviewed the history of the chapter since its inception twenty years ago, showing how it had consistently held up the ideals of the order and carried on a splendid work.

MUCH ACCOMPLISHED

The work of the last year was outlined by Mrs. Johnston in her annual report. Two of the biggest and most successful efforts at raising funds had been the bridge and mah-jong parties at the Empress Hotel and the annual children's fancy dress ball. Donations made during the year included $75 to secondary education; $25 each to soldiers' graves fund, Connaught Regiment and the Sea Cadets; $10 to the Boys' Central School for its reference library; $10 to the Friendly Help, and to the Municipal Chapter Christmas hamper fund; $5 to the special appeal for a Peace River family and to the Women's Workroom, and $25 to the Northwest Mounted Police memorial. One hundred I.O.D.E. calendars had been distributed; twenty-five being sent to the high schools, and subscriptions for magazines had been given to the Boys' Central School and to a school at Lively, B.C.

The chapter had, with the assistance of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, given a grand Rose Day. It had also conducted the sale of poppies for the community cross at Armistice, raising $124.60 for the Red Cross Society by its efforts.

Mrs. Cashmore, the standard bearer, reported attending at patriotic and historic ceremonies. Mrs. Plumb had reported the meetings of the Local Council of Women. Prior to the close of the business, sincere thanks were tendered to all who had in various ways assisted the chapter's undertakings, with a special word of praise for the press.

The afternoon concluded with the serving of a delicious tea by the hostesses, Mrs. G. W. Plumb presiding at the prettily-decorated tea table.

Poetry And Stars Topic Of Address By Astronomer

The relationship of astronomy and poetry was outlined in an interesting address given before the Victoria Authors' Association yesterday evening by Dr. W. E. Harper of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory. Mrs. M. E. Lane, a local author, also added to the pleasure of the evening with an address on "Words With Wings."

A poem, entitled "Stars," from the Astronomical Review, was quoted by Dr. Harper in introducing Dr. Harper, who spoke on "Astronomy and Poetry." The speaker recalled many interesting passages from Shakespeare to support his contention that the hard head astrologers in contempt and also cited paragraphs from the poets which seemed to predict the discovery of radio and the curative properties of sunlight.

Mrs. Lane, in her little talk, enumerated some of the factors contributing to successful writing, originality being one of the greatest assets. The meeting was held in the club rooms, Langley Street. During the evening sympathy was expressed with Mrs. J. O. Cameron in her illness.

Guides to Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the local association of Girl Guides will be held on Monday, February 15, at 8 p.m. in the district headquarters, 1012 Langley Street. All interested will be welcomed. Summaries of the year's work will be given by the commissioners of the Victoria district, and reports of their respective companies and packs will be given by captains and Brown Owls. An address will be heard from Mr. Alan McKill, provincial commissioner.

Victoria has now seven brownie packs (girls under eight years), ten guide companies (over eleven years) and two ranger companies, and of these, two companies claim the honor of being among the oldest in Canada having celebrated their seventeenth birthday last August.

The functions of the local association are to transact the business of the district, to encourage the movement generally to co-operate with other organizations and to assist the commissioners in judging suitable guides. It is also responsible for the awarding of all badges.

EX-COUNTESS TO MARRY

London, Feb. 12.—The Daily Express said today that Alice Silverthorne, formerly the Countess Frederick de Trafford, is to marry Raymond de Trafford, whom she was charged with shooting in 1927. She was tried in France and acquitted.

AGAIN GUIDES COUNCIL'S DESTINIES

Local Council of Women, the consensus of opinion being that retrenchment by all governments was necessary and that the public could help remedy the situation by refraining from imposing demands which added to the already heavy burdens being carried by the taxpayers of the country.

The subject was among the subjects discussed at this morning's session of the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women, the consensus of opinion being that retrenchment by all governments was necessary and that the public could help remedy the situation by refraining from imposing demands which added to the already heavy burdens being carried by the taxpayers of the country.

The subject was introduced in the comprehensive report by Mrs. White, who is convener of the committee of taxation. After touching briefly upon the pressing and ever-rising cost of government, Mrs. White quoted statistics which showed that the average worker in Canada cost the average worker one day's wages out of five.

She reviewed the new taxes which had been imposed by federal and provincial governments, as well as municipal taxes, which constituted a heavy burden upon the people.

The National Council had sent out a questionnaire on the subject of tariffs, the findings of which promised to be of much interest. Mrs. White suggested the imposition of an equitable income tax, and urged the formation of a strong body of public opinion to insist on all governments retrenching. Much of the blame for the present condition of taxation Mrs. White laid at the door of the people themselves, who were always asking for something. The satisfying of their many demands involved constant expenditure.

EMPIRE DAY MEALS

Consideration was given by the meeting to the letter sent by Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson, commending the proposal, emanating from Great Britain, to make all meals, whether served in private homes, hotels or institutions, empire meals in the fullest sense, on Empire Day, thus stimulating the "Buy at Home" campaign throughout the empire.

On the suggestion of Mrs. C. C. Spofford the matter was referred to the executive and the citizens' committee for consideration, and report at the next meeting.

CITIZENSHIP

Mrs. W. McManus, convener of the citizenship committee, referred to the efforts made during last year to cultivate a greater national outlook. To this end both men's and women's organizations had best their efforts to stimulating and encouraging citizenship within the empire, particular emphasis being laid on the "Buy at Home" campaign.

She reminded the women of the privilege they enjoyed in living in this beautiful city, which by good citizenship could be made even more beautiful. She deplored the marrying of its beauty by such exhibitions as "walkathons," and recounted the steps which had been taken by the committee with a view to preventing a recurrence of such contests. The hope was expressed by Mrs. McManus that legislation permitting the forbidding of such contests would be passed at the coming session of the Legislature.

W.C.T.U. HOME

Mrs. Spofford presented the forty-second annual report of the Provincial W.C.T.U. Home on Ida Street, showing that twenty-four friendless women had been cared for last year. Mrs. Spofford thanked all those who had assisted the work, and appealed to more women to do all in their power to support this humanitarian work.

Mrs. W. M. Hutchinson presented the report on housing and town planning.

CARE MENTAL DEFICIENTS

The ever-growing problem of the care of the mental deficient in Canada was referred to by Mrs. C. de V. Schofield in her report as convener of the committee of mental hygiene. She showed that in Canada in 1920, 24,954 insane and 5,493 mental deficient were cared for in the mental hospitals, an increase of 1,204. Such figures clearly showed the need for research into the causes of mental disorders and Mrs. Schofield commended the close study by the council women of the problem of mental deficiency.

Mrs. Spofford's report was particularly commendable for its particular reference to preventive work. She spoke of the appointment of Miss Kilburn as social worker and psychiatrist at Esplanade Mental Home, and also commended the splendid work of Dr. Hugh Robson in this psychiatric clinic conducted in connection with the Social Service League.

Mrs. J. J. McKenna reported for the moral standards committee.

HOME ECONOMICS

Encouraging signs of a growing interest in home economics, both in the schools and the university, were shown in the report given by Mrs. J. W. Gibson. She spoke of the course instituted at the University of British Columbia, as a fruition of the council's work over many years.

The suggestion was also made by Mrs. Gibson that in view of the present economic condition, the Local Council might well anticipate the needs of next winter by helping to conserve fruits and vegetables for the use of the needy of the city.

ADVOCATES TRAINING SHIP

Mrs. E. O. Alcock, convener of the education committee, spoke of the proposal to establish a training ship, where delinquent boys might receive training. She asked the women to support this suggestion, claiming that it would provide boys with a training for the mercantile marine and furnish them with an opportunity for employment. Mrs. Alcock deplored the ever-growing menace of the Oriental worker in British Columbia, who was depriving white boys of employment opportunities.

He is also president of the London branch of the English Speaking Union. Sir Archibald and Lady Flower and their daughter have been frequent visitors to Victoria.

WOMEN TALK ON TAXATION

Local Council Wants Governmentments to Retrench and Public to Help

New Taxes Proving Heavy Burden on People; Reports Presented

Taxation was among the subjects discussed at this morning's session of the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women, the consensus of opinion being that retrenchment by all governments was necessary and that the public could help remedy the situation by refraining from imposing demands which added to the already heavy burdens being carried by the taxpayers of the country.

The subject was introduced in the comprehensive report by Mrs. White, who is convener of the committee of taxation. After touching briefly upon the pressing and ever-rising cost of government, Mrs. White quoted statistics which showed that the average worker in Canada cost the average worker one day's wages out of five.

She reviewed the new taxes which had been imposed by federal and provincial governments, as well as municipal taxes, which constituted a heavy burden upon the people.

The National Council had sent out a questionnaire on the subject of tariffs, the findings of which promised to be of much interest. Mrs. White suggested the imposition of an equitable income tax, and urged the formation of a strong body of public opinion to insist on all governments retrenching. Much of the blame for the present condition of taxation Mrs. White laid at the door of the people themselves, who were always asking for something. THE GOLD STANDARD

"The Gold Standard" was the subject of an interesting address given by J. R. Scooby. Going back into history, the speaker traced the evolution of the monetary standard from the system of barter extant in primeval days, and explained the steps leading to the adoption of the gold standard.

The subscribers to this convention among the nations of the world when accepting the advantages accruing from the adoption of the gold standard, and explained the responsibilities and obligations which went with it, said Mr. Scooby.

CANADA'S POSITION

The failure of certain countries on the gold standard to recognize their obligations had led to much of the present financial stringency. He spoke of the "sterilized" gold lying in some of the banks of the world, doing no good either to the holders or anyone else and so upsetting the world's credit.

Mr. Scooby explained in detail the facts contributing to the deflation of the Canadian dollar.

Canada's heavy borrowings from the United States and her inability to pay the interest on those debts in gold had led to the deflation of the Canadian dollar.

EMPIRE BUILT BY SHOPKEEPERS

Gold was not meant to be sunk in a hole in the ground, claimed the speaker. England had never hoarded gold but had diverted it into the channels of trade. Those countries which were sitting on the world's gold were working incalculable hardship by restraining world trade.

The Empire was built up, not by international bankers, but by the little corner storekeeper who stimulated trade, averred Mr. Scooby.

He expressed the opinion that all the troubles of the day lay in the fact that there had grown too much individualism and national selfishness. But Great Britain was leading the way by showing a great spirit of unselfishness, making her prejudices for the benefit of her former enemies and doing no harm to her power to stimulate world trade and consequent prosperity.

BARTER SYSTEM

The world had gone back to the barter system, because there was not valuable taxation, of the medium of exchange, and Mr. Scooby predicted that the time may come when the barter system will be the accepted and universal medium of trade.

In answer to a question as to what would help to raise the sterilized "old Mr. Scooby" simply replied: "Drop tariffs."

IMMIGRATION

Miss O'Brien in her report as convener of immigration spoke of the Dominion Government's efforts to encourage those settlers who could be self-supporting. Medical inspection at the port of embarkation had proved a great safeguard both to Canada and to the incoming immigrants, many of whom under the former system had been permitted to make the journey only to be turned back at the port of entry.

Allusion was made to the British Columbia Government's scheme of bringing out boys from Great Britain, a policy established two years ago. Conditions had halted all immigration schemes but Miss O'Brien felt confident that with the return of normal times Canada would again feel the need of new citizens to go on the land as helpers in the basic industry of all NATURAL RESOURCES.

Conservation of natural resources was the theme of the report presented by Mrs. R. B. McKenna, convener of this committee. She pointed to the active interest of Frank J. Barnham in the problem of conserving Canada's magnificent virgin timber. This noted conservationist had acquired valuable tracts of virgin timber on Vancouver Island.

The suggestion was made that conservation should have prominent place in every school curriculum. The fishing industry was also being conserved by the government, said Mrs. McKenna, telling of the stocking of British Columbia rivers and lakes with game fish.

Mrs. Bertram Mayell was the vocal soloist of the afternoon and Mrs. Benn contributed violin solos with Mrs. O. C. Wain at the piano.

Miss Thornley recapitulated the manifold activities of the Victorian Order of Nurses, showing its valuable home nursing and educational work. She recalled that 3,515 patients had

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

The work of the Women's Institutes of the province formed the subject of an address given by Mrs. J. D. Gordon, provincial president of that body. She recalled that there are now 154 institutes in British Columbia, with a total of 4,600 members. The institutes aim to improve conditions in rural life and to help establish settlers on a permanent basis, she explained. Improvements to school grounds, the formation of boys' and girls' poultry clubs, the extermination of caterpillars and other pests, the holding of flower shows and community betterment were among the various undertakings of the W.I.

ESSAY WINNER PRESENT

Mrs. Gordon quoted some of the outstanding accomplishments of the individual institutes, showing how much they had contributed to the rural life of British Columbia and the institutes, too, had been in the van of the "Buy at Home" campaign, she said. In this connection Mrs. Gordon introduced Mrs. Welsh of Langford, who exhibited the beautiful hammered silver-rose bowl she had won as first prize in the essay contest conducted among institute women on the subject of buying British Columbia products.

Immigrants had been very materially assisted by the institutes, families being welcomed and looked after during the difficult period of establishment. Child welfare and public health work was also carried on.

LEGISLATION AFFECTING WOMEN

Legislation of the past two years, particularly as it affects women and children, was described by Mrs. C. C. Spofford, convener of the committee. She outlined amendments made to the Mothers' Pensions Act, the first dealing with the time of residence of the applicant in the province, the second dealing with the assessment of an applicant's property. Changes in the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Deserter's Maintenance Act, the Sex Disqualification Removal Act, the Vital Statistics Act, a Public Schools Act amendment, dealing with the education of the blind or the deaf, and the Teachers' Pensions Act, were outlined.

Your Baby and Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

BABY DOES NOT STOP GOOD HABITS JUST TO BE PROVOKING

When baby's good habits suddenly end for no apparent reason, the mother should sit down with a sincere determination to discover what has changed, what is different, pertaining to baby. Habits of sleeping, habits of elimination, habits of obedience, what could have happened to disrupt them suddenly?

SUDDEN CONSTIPATION

Here is a little roly-poly of four and one-half months who has suddenly developed constipation. Mrs. A. B. says: "She has always been a perfectly healthy baby. About three weeks ago she became constipated and ever since has had to be helped by a suppository or a physic. I can't understand this. Baby is nursed at 7, 11, 3 and 7. She has one ounce of orange juice. She is terribly cross from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. and wakes once at night. I thought she does not nurse, but before did not wake at all. Could I be eating incorrectly so that my milk gives her indigestion? I consider your advice excellent and would like your answer to this."

WHAT IS WRONG?

If this were my baby, I should sit down and put myself through some such questionnaire as this: Why should my milk be indigestible now when it has been perfectly satisfactory for four and one-half months? Might it be that I have a less satisfying supply now? Does that late afternoon crossness indicate, perhaps, that the 3 p.m. feeding is diminishing in quantity, causing baby to cry and fuss until the next feeding time? Isn't it true that when there is less food to satisfy baby, constipation is a perfectly natural condition?

STOP PHYSICS

I shall be happy to send you the leaflets on "Constipation" and on "Complementary Feedings," if you will enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Information on how to prepare and when to serve cereal appears in the leaflet called "Feeding from Two to Twelve Months" which you may have, too, if you'll mention it.

Stop physics. Increase the food. Begin cereal. If necessary add a complementary bottle to the nursings at 3 p.m. and at 7 p.m., this insuring that baby will be happy during the afternoon and night. Weigh baby before and after each feeding and you'll note the difference in the amount of milk secreted in the early part of the day when you are fresh and unfatigued, and in the late afternoon when presumably you are tired.

To-morrow: "Slapping Won't Cure Infant's Anus."

Strong Silent Men Sleep In Pink Boudoirs

Los Angeles, Cal. Feb. 12.—Big strong silent men who sleep in pink boudoirs and live in modest homes bereft of individuality, are violating every precept of the International Society of Master Painters and Decorators, Inc., which went into annual convention here.

"Homes, like people, must have accents these days," William Pars of Toronto, Ont., past society president, said.

Strong men should inhabit a "strong" room, he told the half-hundred delegates to the convention. There are certain rooms which reflect color and life.

"They are conducive to happiness," Pars asserted. "Others are proud rooms designed for the proud, arrogant kind of individual."

DEDUCTION IS GREAT FACTOR

Bridge Master Gains Satisfaction From Accurate Placing of Cards

Result of Hand of Secondary Importance to Smart Deduction

New York, Feb. 12.—One of the bridge master's greatest thrills, whatever the result of a hand, is the correct deduction immediately after the dummy is down of the number of cards of each suit held by partners and opponents. In a duplicate tournament, Shepley and Barclay partners once had top scores for a particular board because his ability at card reading enabled him to make a better defence.

By TOM O'NEIL

The hand:
North Spades—Q J 10 9 4 2
Hearts—Q
Diamonds—9
Clubs—A K 10 6 5
West Spades—K 8 5 3
Hearts—J 10 7 5
Diamonds—Q J 7 3
Clubs—9
South (dummy) Spades—A 7
Hearts—A K 8 4
Diamonds—A 8 6 5 4
Clubs—7 3

South bid one no trump, his partner two and south then went to three, which became the contract. West and east did not bid.

West led the five of spades. It was obviously the fourth highest of his best suit. Barclay noted the four and two of spades in the dummy and three in his own hand. It was clear to him therefore that west had four spades, since if west had a five card suit, he would have led from that.

A look at the clubs in his own hand and dummy showed Barclay that the declarer had only two clubs. Ten clubs were in sight. If the declarer had all three missing clubs west would have none and necessarily would have had a five-card suit and led from it. West therefore had only one club, four spades, four hearts and four diamonds. Declarer held two spades, four hearts, five diamonds and two clubs.

ATTACKED HEART WEARINESS

The first trick was by south with the ace of spades. He led the seven, which was won by west with the king. West attacked the heart weakness in dummy, leading the five. Barclay played the nine spot to show his partner he had four hearts and would protect them and that west should protect diamonds if possible.

After dummy won the second trick with the queen of hearts, four spade tricks were taken. Barclay discarding two clubs and the king and ten of diamonds.

SNOW FLAKE SODAS

Heart Hungry

LAURA LOU BROOKMAN, AUTHOR OF "GAM-GAMANCE" © 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

The luncheon was soon over. There was no opportunity for Evelyn Parsons, try as she would, to reach back the high dramatic moment which she had built up before. From personalities the conversation veered sharply to practical affairs.

It was nearly 2:30 when John Mitchell, on the curb, lifted his hat and bowed as Evelyn's motor car moved away. She had offered to leave him at his office but Mitchell said he had an engagement nearby.

Celia was watching from the window when the limousine reached Grand-mere Square. She had tired of her book and began to grow anxious. Between a hero on the printed page and John Barrymore on the motion picture screen there was a world of difference, and the advantage was all with the actor. So far Celia's day in the city had been rather dull.

"The car stopped. Celia called to Martha that she was leaving. Then she gathered up her sweater and rushed to the door and ran down the steps.

"It's not too late, is it?" she asked eagerly as she stepped into the car beside Mrs. Parsons.

"To late for what?"

"The picture. You know—John Barrymore. I looked in the morning paper and found the name of the theatre. It's on Forty-third Street."

"Oh, I'd forgotten. Really, I think we'd better put that off until another day. We can come in any afternoon and you see it's getting on after three o'clock now. We won't be home as it is until five."

"No, I suppose not."

Celia was not of the temperamental to sulk. Nevertheless she could not hide her disappointment. It was Mrs. Parsons who had mentioned the photograph that morning and heretofore she had looked forward to it. She knew, furthermore, that "coming in any afternoon" was the sort of vague plan likely not to materialize.

If Evelyn noticed that the girl was unusually quiet during the drive home she did not mention the fact. Mrs. Parsons, having embarked on a career of "making others happy," devoted her thoughts to herself. The "beautiful spirit" seemed a trifle short-tempered during the rest of the afternoon and evening.

They did not go to the country club, but had dinner at home. Afterward Celia, inspired by Martha's reminiscences, wrote a letter to her mother. Then she curled up on the davenport and became absorbed in her book.

Lisi Duncan paid an unexpected call at Larchwood next morning. She drove up wearing the loose white duck trousers, checker shirt and beret which was her favorite hot weather costume.

"Take you for a set of tennis!" she called to Celia as she opened the door and left herself into the house.

CHAPTER XXXVII

The young man's back was certainly familiar. It was the way he carried his broad shoulders which first caught Celia's attention. Her heart seemed to stop beating. She leaned forward, craning her neck to see more clearly.

He did not turn around. There was something about that gray tweed jacket that brought a quick rush of memory. If only he would turn his head! But no—of course, she must be mistaken. It was just some stranger who held his shoulders in the same alert way as Barney Shields.

"Look, Celia, look—there's that cute jockey! The one in red. See him?" Lisi Duncan had grabbed Celia's arm and was pointing out a boyish youth in scarlet satin boots and broad-shouldered cap who, with other jockeys, was crossing in front of the stands.

"Isn't he adorable?" Lisi chirped. "Why, Celia, you weren't looking at all!"

"Yes, I was, I saw him."

It would be several minutes before there would be another race. The crowd all about them had begun moving. Tod Jordan, handsome in white linen suit and orange tie which set off his dark good looks, turned toward the two girls.

"Want to take a look at the horses?" he said. "I think I'll go down to the paddock and see if I can pick up a tip."

"I don't want tips," said Lisi glibly. "I've already picked my horse. It's the one that cute jockey in red is going to ride. See, here's his name! And the horse is 'Family Row.' There's a hunch for you. That horse ought to win me money!"

Celia shook her head. "You go on. Tod," she said. "We'll wait for you."

"See you later!"

Jordan disappeared in the milling crowd. Lisi was turning and twisting, trying to take in everything around her.

"If there isn't Jimmy Webster. Over there—see! And, my Lord, it's Celia with him! Well, of all things!" Celia followed Lisi's excited gesturing to the seats a few rows above where Webster and Kate Duncan were sitting. Lisi whiffled about quickly.

"Don't look!" she hissed. "Don't even let them know we saw them. Kate'll be sure to tattle."

front had turned. Celia caught a quick glimpse of sunburned cheek, eyes squinting against the sunshine—beyond a doubt Barney Shields!

"Listen, Celia, let's move over to the other side where Kate can't see us," Lisi had taken the other girl's arm.

"Oh, but we can't now. How'd we find Tod?" She had to make excuses quickly, keeping one eye on Barney. Celia's heart was pounding. Suppose Barney should leave before she could get to him.

Lisi was silent for a few moments. Then she said:

"I'll tell you. You stay and wait for Tod and I'll go across and find some seats for all of us. When he comes back you two come over. Even if Kate does see you it's all right. Oh, boy—I'd like to put something over on that old girl. The way she treated me last night!"

Celia agreed. She was only too eager to be alone. When Lisi was out of sight she rose and walked down the aisle of seats. Barney had turned again and was facing the track.

She was just behind him now. Celia tried to appear casual, but her cheeks were hot. She felt as though the eyes of everyone in the huge gathering were turned upon her.

Shyly she touched his arm.

"Hello, Barney," the girl said.

"Why—hello! Say, this is a surprise! Barney Shields whipped off his straw hat. His face was one of ruddy, delighted grin. He grabbed her hand, crushed it in his own. "If it really is you, Celia, I can hardly believe it!"

"It's me, all right," she told him smiling. "I saw you from where I was sitting. At first I wasn't sure, but then you turned around. Barney, I'm awfully glad to see you."

"Never so glad to see anybody in my life!" the young man said emphatically. He was still holding her hand.

"But how did you happen to be—?" she began.

"Oh, it's a long story. I'll tell you all about it, kid. Right now all I can do is think how sweet you're looking! Say, you look like a million dollars, Celia!"

Blushes deepened the color. The girl did look attractive. Her thin green frock had flattering white frills about the throat and brief sleeves. She wore white slippers and a broad white straw with drooping brim. Flat-ironed, that most artful of cosmetics, had done its work. Celia's eyes were shining.

"Do you really think so?" she asked softly.

"I say I do!"

"But you didn't answer my letters."

"I'm sorry. I was so busy. Did you send any more? That's part of it. I've got to tell you. Just wait until you hear! I've had some good luck, Celia!"

"You look as though you had. Still, I don't see why you couldn't write to me. You said you would. Barney!"

"Yes, I know. But you won't care about that after you hear what's happened."

Men and women around them had begun returning to their seats. It was nearly time for the net race. Celia noticed that Barney had a camera at his side.

"Oh—are you making pictures?" she asked.

"Yes, worse luck! I'll have to be moving in a minute. Listen, when I'm going to have a chance to talk to you? I've got a lot of things I want to tell you, Celia. What are you doing to-night?"

"I couldn't see you to-night," she said. "Oh, dear, let's see—"

"Can I call you at your father's house?"

The girl shook her head.

"I'm not staying there any more," she said. "I'm living out on Long Island with a friend of father's. Mrs. Parsons her name is. You'd better let me telephone you. Where can I reach you?"

"Picture Service," he gave her the exchange number.

"Barney! You mean you're working there! In New York?"

"Sure!" he said exultantly. "That's part of what I've got to tell you."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly's Funny Guns

(Copyright, 1932, by Howard R. Garis)

The Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat, battered and bruised and sore, sat in the den of the Old Black Bear, and the Bob Cat said:

"Never more!"

"Never more for me!" growled the Woodchuck.

The Fox blinked his half-closed eye. While the Old Black Bear in a deep growl said:

"Oh, come! Have another try!"

"It's all very well for you, Mr. Bear, to say have another try. But you didn't get pelted with snowballs as we did."

"I should say not!" meowed the Bob Cat. "Oh, my tail! my tail!"

"Ho! Franny's making such a fuss over his silly little tail, sneered the Fox, whose tail would have made a down like that on the end of the Bob Cat."

"Well, it's my tail and when Uncle Wiggly hit me with a snowball it hurt me a lot more than it hurt you," snarled the Bob Cat.

"My eye hurts, too," growled the Fox. "I can hardly see out of it. Buster, that boy rabbit, hit me smack in the eye with a snowball."

"Get me the funny guns."

"And then Mr. Bear here tells us to have another try to capture Uncle Wiggly's snow fort!" spoke the Wolf.

"Oh, no! Never more!"

"Don't be silly," chuckled the Bear. "I'll tell you chaps where you made a mistake."

"Well, tell us," spoke the Fox.

"The three Bad Chaps, after having tried with no luck to get over the walls of Uncle Wiggly's snow fort, had met in the Bear's den."

"The mistake you chaps made," said the Bear, "is that all three of you, together, rushed at one side of the fort wall, didn't you?"

"Yes," meowed the Bob Cat. "We did. We rushed at the front wall for back of that is the front door to the hot-stump bungalow. And we wanted to get in the bungalow and have a lot of nibbles."

"Well, that's where you made the mistake," growled Mr. Bear. "By rushing at and trying to get over one wall you gave Uncle Wiggly and his boy soldiers a chance for all of them to throw snowballs over that one wall. There were a lot more of them than there were of you, weren't there?"

"Oh, lots," said the Fox.

"Exactly!" chuckled the Bear. "Well, what you should have done was to divide yourselves—only one of you should have rushed at one wall. In this way Uncle Wiggly would have had to divide his soldiers, some to throw snowballs over each wall. In this way at least one of you might have gotten over and the others could have followed."

"But there are four walls to Uncle Wiggly's fort," spoke the Wolf.

"The Bear," "But the Wolf," and "How could three of us rush at four walls, tell me that."

"No, that couldn't be done," said the Bear. "The next time we go to try to capture that snow fort we will be four of us—one for each wall."

"Who will be the fourth?" asked the Bob Cat.

"I'll be the fourth," growled the Fox. "It's almost time for me to come out of my den after my long, winter sleep. I'll go with you and it will be strange if we don't capture that snow fort."

Old English Preparation For Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or catarrhal deafness, cut this out, paragon, and hand it to them, and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer from total deafness. We believe that catarrh, catarrhal deafness, head noises, etc., are caused by constitutional disease, and that salivary sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint, and seldom, if ever give permanent relief. This being so, much time has been spent in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic, that should quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription given below is an understandable form, so that any one can use it in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist one ounce of Ferment (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing should rapidly return as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucous dripping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which the presence of catarrhal poison and which are often overcome by this efficacious treatment. If nearly 90 per cent of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, there must be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh should give this mixture a trial (Adv.)

MUST OBEY LAWS

Brantford, Ont., Feb. 12.—A member of the Six Nations Indians is a subject of the British Crown, and subject to the Canadian laws, County Judge A. D. Hardy ruled yesterday in sustaining a magistrate's decision under which J. Lewis, Six Nations Indian, was fined $40 and costs for refusal to answer the questions of a census officer last June. Counsel for the appellant contended the Six Nations Indians were allies of the Crown and not subjects.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain

How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burping, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed, a food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach at times knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Laying aside all digestive aids, instead get from any druggist some Bismuth Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no need of liquid or milk. Bismuth, liquid or milk, is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy the meals with no more fear of indigestion. (Adv.)

During the service the hymns, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," "Be Not, Therefore, Anxious for the Morrow," and "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest" were sung. There were many beautiful floral offerings which testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held by her friends. Interment was in St. Michael's Cemetery. The following acted as pallbearers: F. Stacey, T. Asley, C. Davidson, E. Lake, G. Alk, and A. N. Lescaud. The Stacey Mortuary Company was in charge of arrangements.

ESTIMATES FOR SCHOOLS LOWER

Esquimalt's Tentative Figure For Educational Costs $4,000 Below 1931

Effect Saving Chiefly Through $3,800 Surplus; No Wage Cut Expected

Esquimalt's tentative school estimates for 1932 are approximately $4,000 below the figure of last year, it was announced by the chairman, following the board's special closed meeting in Lamson Street School yesterday evening.

This reduction was made possible through the surplus of $3,800 which the board carried over from its 1931 estimates and minor reductions in the costs of various departments of the school, including a voluntary cut in the indemnity of the secretary of the board, which will save about $150.

If this saving is not sufficient, in the opinion of the council, the board suggested the abolition of the manual training and domestic science courses along with the services of the school nurse. But should these economies be necessary, the board expressed the hope that the proposal would be placed before the ratepayers in the form of a referendum.

EXPECT NO SALARY CUT

The board expressed the belief there would be no reduction in teachers' salaries. However, the government's grant for this purpose, which formerly provided 50 per cent of the amount required, will be reduced to 42 per cent on April 1. Just how this loss in revenue will be offset was not made clear by the board.

The tentative estimates will be submitted to the municipal council at its meeting next Monday evening, along with further suggested means of reducing expenditures.

It was impossible to estimate what the change in the mill rate might be in the school division. Under existing conditions a mill rate approximately $2.500 is required. Hence a saving of $4,000 would effect a reduction of approximately one and one-half mills unless the means of raising the levy were changed.

TELLS VALUE OF LIFE INSURANCE

Good Aid in Meeting Obligations at Death, J. S. Slack Tells Underwriters

In many estates, even of large proportions, the death of the insured can be a financial disaster to the family. The speaker pointed out that the owner to meet the succession duties and other immediate obligations, and the substantial savings on some portion of the estate had often to be made, said J. S. Slack of the Royal Trust Company, in an address before the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association in Spencer's dining-room yesterday.

In such a case it was a great advantage, he said, to have among the assets of an estate a certain amount of life insurance. The trust company could more satisfactorily perform their duties.

The speaker also pointed out that men of wealth sometimes neglected to take out life insurance. This left the dependants short of ready cash or without any. Before closing Mr. Slack gave some extracts from historical works on covering an Egyptian estate of 2518 B.C.

MEN BALK AT WORK SCHEME

Jobless at Allico Camp, Near Vancouver, Say Monthly Allowance Too Small

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 12.—Government relief officials to-day faced the refusal of 300 men at Allico Camp to go out to work on provincial highways for their board and $7.50 a month cash allowance.

The men at Allico yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution refusing the offer of road employment. It was said they might meet again to-day to reconsider the decision.

They took the stand that $7.50 a month was not sufficient properly to clothe them under prevailing weather conditions, and signed a statement stating they would not leave Allico for road work camps when busses called for them to-day and Saturday. Allico is a "feeder" camp, where men are sent to wait until they are called to regular highway work in some part of the province.

Only under the higher wage conditions prevailing when they first went to the camp would they consent to leave Allico, they declared, after Superintendent J. Cameron had outlined the scheme to the men.

Following the resolution against accepting the work scheme, the men appointed a committee of eight to look after their interests.

Bobsled Races Are Called Off Again; Decide Ski Title

Downpour of Rain Dampers Spirits of Large Crowd at Lake Placid Games; Arnold Stone, Vancouver, and Bob Lymburn, Revelstoke, Among Canadians Seeking World Ski Championship To-day; Norwegian Make Clean Up of Honors in 18-kilometer Cross-country Run and Ski Jump

Lake Placid, N.Y., Feb. 12.—Sightseers debarking from trains here in droves to watch the Olympic winter games found it uncomfortably hot to-day in the gaudy woolen sports clothes considered appropriate here to watch the winter sports. A steady drizzle of rain spoiled the games in no small measure, and the crowd milled up and down Main Street, wet and bedraggled, looking for something to do.

The bob run races were called off again to-day and the ski jumping out at the Intervale Hill, four miles from town, remained the only attraction until evening, when the figure skaters appear in the pairs' competition.

Four Canadians will jump here to-day for the Olympic championship. They are Bob Lymburn of Revelstoke, B.C.; Jacques Languet of Ottawa; Leslie Gagne, Montreal, and Arnold Stone, Vancouver.

The hill was comparatively slow and sticky yesterday when the Canadians jumped in the combined event. Jostein Nordmo, Camrose, Alta., was best of the four Canadians entered, and placed tenth in a field of thirty-three, with 368.1 points out of a possible 480. On his two jumps yesterday he made fifty-three and fifty-two and a half meters.

Officials expected to hold the big jumping event to-day, rain or shine, but the weather held out little hope of improvement before night.

CANADIANS ENTERED

Unworried about the weather, two pairs of Canadian figure skaters test their skill to-night against skaters of France, Hungary and the United States. Mrs. Constance Wilson Samuel, North American singles champion, and her brother, Montgomery Wilson, North American men's singles champion, will represent Canada with an Ottawa pair, Mrs. Frances Claudet and Chauncy Bangs.

Faced with the herculean task of overcoming commanding leads piled up by the Scandinavians in the first of the combined sitting event of the Olympic winter games, Canada's four competitors found the hurdle a bit too steep yesterday.

A dreary rain threatened to bring about cancellation of the jumps to-day, but the sun emerged just long enough to send the competitors into action. The tests started a steady drizzle set in.

Undaunted by the adverse conditions, Hans Vinjarengen, Norwegian giant, hurtled down the slippery run, and made through space for a distance of 204 feet, a new record for the hill, and by a good measure the best performance of the day. The previous mark for the local jump was 198 feet. On his first jump the Norwegian had leaped 172 feet.

Grottnumbraten, the defending champion, entered the second half of the event with the best time for the cross-country run and made two beautiful jumps of 163 and 161 feet.

There were thrills and spills galore for the large gallery of nearly 12,000, but despite the adverse conditions there was not a single serious accident. One of the Japanese entrants, however, crashed into the bleachers, but escaped with a few bruises.

HOW THEY FINISHED

The first ten finishers in the combined eighteen kilometers and ski jump, with time, distance and points followed:

1. Johann Grottnumbraten, Norway, eighteen kilometers, time 127.15, jumps 163, 161 feet, points 446.
2. Ole Stenen, Norway, time 128.05, jumps 163, 161 feet, points 446.
3. Hans Vinjarengen, 942.5, time 132.40, jumps 173, 204 feet, points 494.6.
4. Sverre Kolterud, Norway, time 134.36, jumps 177, 182 feet, points 418.7.
5. Ivan Sven Eriksson, Sweden, 136.52, jumps 197, 182 feet, points 412.3.
6. Antonia Barton, Czechoslovakia, time 133.39, jumps 142, 146 feet, points 397.1.
7. Bronislav Czech, Poland, time 136.37, jumps 160, —, points 392.
8. Frantisek Simunek, Czechoslovakia, time 136.58, jumps 160, 165, points 391.3.
9. Rolf Monsen, United States, time 142.36, jumps 178, 166 feet, points 369.3.
10. Jostein Nordmo, Camrose, Alta., time 142.56, jumps 168, 197 feet, points 368.1.
